

Joanne Doherty graduated from Edinburgh College of Art with a Master of Architecture in 2009 having completed her undergraduate studies at The University of Edinburgh. In 2015 she qualified as an architect completing her studies with APEAS.

Joanne is currently an Architect at Fletcher Joseph Associates in Edinburgh.

During almost 10 years of professional practice, Joanne has worked in a wide variety of sectors across the UK including Education, Healthcare, Commercial Developments, Residential and Leisure facilities.

Alongside her design expertise and experience, she has a keen interest in the implementation of BIM, qualifying as a Certified Revit Professional in 2019.

She is a member of Women in Property and Women in BIM.